COVID-19 update letter

Dear Friends,

This week's update brings us better news than my last letter. As we work through the rounds of testing since our last positive staff member on January 18, I am pleased to tell you that all Residents' tests for Friday, January 22nd came back negative! And all of our staff have tested negative for both tests on January 21st and 25th. We will test all the Residents again on January 27th to ensure their safety and to take all required precautions.

While this is all good news pointed in the right direction, we must continue to pray for all people who are recovering from the virus, including Sr. Gonzague and a few of our employees.

Our Residents remain resilient with the help of God's grace, the steadfast commitment of our Little Sisters and staff, and of course the treasured calls, mail, packages, prayers and outreach they receive from family and friends.

Please remain safe and in God's loving care. Pray for us and know we pray for you daily. We are so grateful for your continued support. God will continue to guide us. We pray to St. Joseph whom St. Jeanne Jugan said will always be the special protector of the Little Sisters like he was of Jesus and Mary.

God bless you,

Mother Margaret
